Service Specifications:

Domain Name: Your domain name is an identification that defines a realm of administrative autonomy or authority over the Internet. It says a lot about you, it would be something like your_company_name.com or your_company_name.net. You as business owner are required to pay for your own domain name in order to be distinguished and accessible from Internet.

Hosting: Hosting Services are internet services that allow individuals and organizations to make their web applications accessible via World Wide Web and are also companies that provide space on a server owned or leased for use by clients. There are a bunch of hosting providers such as WinHost and GoDaddy which are required to be paid for in order to publish your store on. We strongly recommend WinHost since it's 100% compatible with all the technologies and platforms we use.

Web Server: It's part of the hosting services and has disk space limitations based on the hosting plan you choose. The bigger your store is the more space you will need.

Database Server: The Database Server is too part of the hosting services, so you and we as a team will have to decide how much space we would need to dedicate to your data and based on that we would be ready to pick the proper plan.

Site Backup & Restore: It is an optional hosting service you are free to either include or ignore. It basically safeguards your entire website - files folders, databases - with automatic daily offsite backups.

SSL Certificate: It is another optional hosting service. It secures credit card numbers, passwords and other sensitive data your visitors submit through your site. We suggest you should include it in order to make your clients feel more secure inside your store.

Development: Development relies on us as engineers, we are totally responsible of building and handling all the different functionalities you need for your store. During this process you will become part of the team being aware of every single piece of software we set up. You are free to give us feedback and opinions about the way we are doing things.

Data Migration: Data Migration is sometimes one of the most difficult part of the definition of "software done", it depends on your business data structure and also your data sources. It could be databases coming from old systems, excel books and in the worse case scenarios could even be pieces of paper. We have different workarounds for each possible scenario we come across with, so the best price for it will be based on the best solution we agree on.

Custom Reports: These are the reports you need to keep track of your business needs. They will be built from scratch and will help you know why things might be going wrong.

Administration Panel: This is a separate web tool that takes care of managing your entire store, it has a cool dashboard with a pretty good set of features that for sure will make your life way easier. You can add, edit or remove products and categories with no help of experts. By means of this tool you will have total control over your store.

Deployment: This is the process of setting up the entire application on top of the hosting servers, in other words, it is about publishing your store, creating or updating your database and getting the system up and running in general.

Maintenance: You have 4 months free of charge after getting your store ready to use so we will be available for you anytime giving support and helping you fix any issue you might face. After that period if you are interested in keeping this service we would have to negotiate the maintenance price which will be defined based on the complexity of your business.

Social Media (Facebook, LinkedIn, Twitter): Social media allows to connect with your customers and in the present represent a mechanism to promote your business. We create the pages in every social media for advertise and market your application.
